

Quality Policy

Vision

We want to be a prestigious, well-respected and innovative tool shop that makes full use of modern technologies and trends and can handle complex molds and applications. A tool shop that provides complete and comprehensive services and technical facilities to its customers, that works with them closely to create the products they need, and one that is sought after and contacted by leading manufacturers of plastic parts from various branches of industry. We want to be an excellent employer, one where offered positions come with no small degree of prestige; our employees are highly motivated, we train specialists in the field and are aware of our social responsibilities.

Mission

We are a tool shop that develops and produces molds for complex applications and provides complete and comprehensive services to its customers, helping them move forward. We offer comprehensive services from the development of moldings, technical support, construction and production of the mold to delivery of the final product. We provide innovative ideas and follow the latest trends in the construction and production of molds and plastics. We see great potential in innovation and smart solutions to improve the competitive advantage and sustainability of both us and our clients, and we help our clients grow. We don't want to make a name for ourselves on the market with competitive pricing alone; clients need to see that their investment into high-quality tools will pay a return and be worthwhile.

Strategy

We can convince clients that we can handle complex and difficult projects even on a global scale and further strengthen our position as a reliable supplier and partner with comprehensive services. We help innovate products for clients, presenting new ideas and solutions, and in turn contribute to their competitive strength and sustainability. We create and combine synergies between individual fields of industry and support our clients so that they can win projects from their customers and be a part of on-going changes in the automotive industry that keep bringing new and interesting projects and challenges. We try to stand apart from other suppliers; we are proactive and try to do things in a different, better way. Our references show that we are heading in the right direction.

ESG Policy

We are fully aware that the image of our company is shaped not only by the quality of our products and services, but also by our behavior towards our surroundings, our approach to occupational health and safety, and environmental protection. In the execution of our projects and daily operations, we are committed to complying with all legal regulations applicable to our company. We use sustainable materials in our products that can potentially be reused or recycled at the end of their life cycle. We implement efficient measures in energy consumption, waste generation and reuse, and we prevent emergency situations that could negatively impact the environment. Through effective prevention, we strive to avoid workplace injuries and health hazards. We actively encourage our employees to protect the environment and to adhere to occupational health and safety principles, particularly within the scope of their work responsibilities. We also create conditions for improving the overall work culture and workplace environment.
